

The Human Family

Dolour and eccentric,
Name it thoroughly,
Some people are anthropocentric,
Others think wholly.

Ere to today,
There is still a firmament,
But we all disobey,
Our sins are permanent.

We need abodes,
We want eminence,
Our lives are yet similar to cryptic crosswords,
As we strive for pre-eminence,

We try to dulcify our living,
Yet life is like ether,
We are forgiving,
But we are as confused as the meaning of polyether.

Our lives betide,
It is fuliginous with despise,
We sometimes go downside,
But, we learn from advice.

We are controlled,
We can be gold,
We can take off our blindfolds,
And ignore the modded common cold.

Betoken by your common sense and guts,
Please don't risk an opportunity,
Or you will get nuts!
Trust me, as I am in your community.

The celerity of thoughts,
Is literally unstoppable,
It is faster than gun-shots,
And undroppable.

We are from different countries,
Tribes, ethnic, you name it all,
We have different stories,
But it is all from the same magical waterfall.

In some ways, you and I are related,
We are from the same parents,
It is complicated,
But I wasn't the declarant.

In the end, we have craves and essentials,
This is how to run the global community,
It is beneficial,
Because we are one unity.

Humans are humans,
Life is life,
We are one family,
So come join us nationally.